Three of Fennville Area Honored on Birthdays

Fennville, Feb. 25 (Special)—Charles Bushee, who has been ailing for a number of years and was recently very ill, has recovered so he is able to be up and about the house. He enjoyed his 78th birthday anniversary at his home Tuesday, and did justice to the birthday dinner provided by his wife Mr. and Mrs. Albert Judy, who, with Mr. and Mrs. Bushee have passed their 57th wedding anniversary, were invited to help Mr. Bushee celebrate, but only Mrs. Judy was present.

Mr. Bushee has been a resident of this community for many years, coming with his parents from Battle Creek at the age of 15. For many years he ran the L. S. Dickinson farm near here.

Mrs. Warren Harris of New Richmond was 79 on Wednesday, and was guest of honor at a birthday dinner given by the New Richmond Ladies aid at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Maurice Huyser. Fifteen enjoyed the occasion which also honored Mrs. Lena Fisher, another member having her birthday at the same time, although she could not claim as many years as did Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Harris has lived in New Richmond a large share of the 43 years since they first came there. She and Mrs. Harris was 90 last November, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary last May 6, at which time their five children and the husband or wife of each was present at a dinner given for them at Fennville. With one of the great pyramids, the city of the dead and the sphinx in the background, this group of U.S. soldiers on furlough in North Africa, pose with their native guides. The picture was sent to Mr. and Mrs. John Ver Schure, 300 West 18th St., by their son, Pfc. Andrew Ver Schure, who is in North Africa with a mobile ordnance unit. Must Obtain Ration Books Today To Avoid at Least Month's Delay

Holland residents had until 8 a.m. today to register at one of the five elementary school buildings for their war ration book No. 2, to avoid a wait of at least a month to be registered by the local war price and rationing board.

During the first two days of registration, 11,894 local residents received war ration book No. 2. Joe Moran, co-chairman in charge of the registration work, reported today Wednesday's registrations totaled 4,658 while 7,236 were registered at the schools between 1 and 8 p.m. today, the hours of registration.

Because it is busily engaged in processing renewal applications for supplementary gasoline, the local war price and rationing board reported that it will be unable to register persons for war ration book No. 2 for at least a month. Point rationing of food becomes effective March 1 and without the ration book, persons will be unable to purchase rationed food.

Two-day registration figures for the various schools follow: Washington, 2,727; Van Raalte, 2,671; Longfellow, 2,500; Lincoln, 2,088; Froebel, 1,907.

Mr. Moran said that 17 per cent of the declarations listed some excess of canned goods and 2 per cent reported excess coffee on hand as of Nov. 28.

Local residents with properly prepared tin cans are asked to place them along the curbing before 8 a.m. Saturday so they can be collected without delay by Boy Scouts and city trucks. Improperly prepared tin cans will be rejected.

Hope Is Defeated In Return Game With Calvin, 49-42

Mulder Forced Out on Fouls as Dutch Move Ahead in Second Half Calvin college's hot basketballers shot the works Tuesday night in Burton gym, Grand Rapids, and defeated Hope, MIAA champions, 49-42, breaking the Dutch victory string at ten straight. The Knights led practically the entire distance, but the Hingamen were constantly on their heels, pressing the hosts for every basket.

Hope's chances were dealt a damaging blow when, with 13 minutes to go in the second half, diminutive Guard Don Mulder was forced out of the battle on fouls just when the Dutch were stepping out in front.

It offered one consolation for Hope fans, for they were confident that the "blitz boys" would have won if Mulder had remained in the game.

His removal was doubly hard for Mulder. It was his last game before leaving today for air corps service and it was the first time in his college and virtually all his high school games that he had been ejected for personal fouls.

Lauded for weeks as the leading team in the state, Hope went into the game under unusual pressure.

Calvin displayed its best form of the season, and showed a vast assortment of shots that had the 1,900 fans on their feet a great deal of the time. The Dutch seemed to have some trouble with the large Burton floor, but their main trouble was in shooting, for a poor percentage of the usually accurate shots split the meshes.

The game was hard played by both squads, and none of the fans was disappointed with the show, for a bangup ball game resulted from the rivalry of the two colleges.

The win was Calvin's 11th in 16 games, and Hope's 13th in 15. The Dutch defeated Calvin earlier in the season, 42-40.

Scoring by both squads came late after the opening whistle. The Knights built up a quick 4-0 lead which they held for some time. Don Mulder, playing his last game with the Orange and Blue, tallied on a charity toss and field goal to make the count 4-3, but the one-point lead was short lived. In quick succession the ace-shots for Calvin, Bylisma and Zylstra, sent some fast ones through the hoop and a 12-4 lead was built up at the end of the first period.

The Dutchmen came back fast, sent three swishing, making the count 12-10, but again the Knights surged ahead, 20-14. From here on to the half it was nip and tuck. Dalman and De Vette made it 18-20. Scholten collected on a charity toss, Van Dis and Mulder sent through two quick ones, and Hope took the lead for the first time in the half game. It was short lived, however, for Hertel sent one from the side, and Bylisma ripped the net from the center of the floor just as the half-time horn blew, Calvin out in front, 25-22.

It looked as if the Dutch would do it again, for right after the half, Dalman and Kleinjans teamed up and sank three beauties in one minute flat to put the Dutchmen out in front, 28-25. Hertel and Van Wieren then teamed up and increased their total by three, but another poke by Van Dis put Hope ahead, 30-27. That was the last time the Hingamen led the lead. Bylisma and Penning broke loose and soon the Knights stepped out in front, 39-33, 43-38, and finally 49-42. The Knights were just too "hot", and Hope was just too "cold."

De Vette was the high scorer for the Hingamen with 13, but again, as in every other contest, all members played as a unit, and no outstanding player predominated. Bylisma and Zylstra had 12 and 9, respectively, for the Knights.

In a preliminary contest the Hope "B" squad had the same trouble as the varsity, and was beaten, 37-32.

Woman's Club Is Given Glimpse Into Theatre

In an interesting lecture-demonstration entitled "From Grand Opera to Broadway," Glenn Drake of Chicago and New York entertained members of the Women's club Tuesday afternoon with his amusing characterizations and his intimate glimpses into the life of the theatre. Mr. Drake was assisted in his program by Miss Loretta Downing, soprano, and Miss Lillian Rohde, pianist.

In explaining the methods used to train persons for the theater which are put into practice at his school in the Adirondacks, Mr. Drake emphasized the differences between acting in grand opera and in the legitimate theater.

The theater dictates social practices in manners, customs and posture, he said, explaining that the theater today is talking only of simplicity. Even grand opera standards are being simplified, and today there is much less artificiality in business and social life. Sincere and correct actions go hand in hand, and the American public wants things done in a simple way, he said.

An enjoyable feature of the program was the singing of a group of light opera duets by Mr. Drake and Miss Downing, illustrating the kind of programs they present frequently at U. S. O. centers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white lace over satin fashioned with sweetheart neckline, long tight-fitting sleeves, fitted bodice and very full skirt. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a lace Juliet cap and she carried a rounded arm bouquet of white gladioli.

Three at Hope Given Diplomas

One to Study Medicine, Other Two Expect to Enter Armed Forces

Three Hope college seniors who completed their work at the end of the first semester received diplomas on Friday at a special commencement exercise in Hope Memorial chapel. Awarded diplomas by President Wichers were Clinton Harrison, Harvey Koop and Seymour Padnos, all of Holland.

Dr. Wichers, addressing the graduates and other members of the student body who expect to leave soon, urged students to hold to their ambition and "become what you really want to be." He stressed the importance of keeping alive the flame of idealism in young hearts even in a day like this. Giving as a definition of character, "The inner force to carry out a resolution after the mood in which the resolution was born has died out," Dr. Wichers urged students to maintain their ideals and remember their helpful experiences at college.

In keeping with the "informal" commencement, Clinton Harrison, former president of the student council, spoke briefly for the three graduates and addressed the student body. Harrison will leave to study medicine at Johns Hopkins university and Koop and Padnos expect to enter the armed services soon.

Devotions at the service were led by the Rev. Hugh Thompson Kerr, pastor of the Shadyside church in Pittsburgh, Pa., who spoke of the beatitudes as being a "revelation of all human values" and contrasted Christ's teachings with the desires of the world. "Anyone sold to security today is on a toboggan," he said, enumerating money, wealth, pleasure, position, comfort, rights, war, cleverness and security as some of the world's aims.

Expect to Have New Scavenger By End of Week

Until Then, Housewives Of City Must Arrange Own Garbage Disposal

Until the board of health can appoint a new garbage collector, Holland housewives will have to dispose of their garbage the best way they can.

The sudden death last Friday morning of Gerrit Kragt left Holland without a city scavenger. The board of health met in special session last Friday afternoon and authorized City Clerk Oscar Peterson to advertise for bids for the contract which will be received in his office through 5 p.m. Wednesday.

It is presumed the board of health will hold another meeting to consider the bids and it is anticipated that a new garbage collector will be on the job by the end of the week, according to the city clerk. Already a number of persons have made inquiry about the job of collecting garbage in Holland.

Garbage can be disposed of by the individual by burning it in the furnace or incinerator but some residents have been successful in having their garbage hauled away by their ash collector. The illness and death of Mr. Kragt caused garbage to accumulate in homes of those who depended upon him to take it away.

Personality Hints Given Century Club Members

Century club members were entertained Monday night in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Marion de Velder by Glenn Drake of Chicago and New York in an amusing and charming program in which he was assisted by Miss Loretta Downing and Miss Lillian Rohde.

Mr. Drake who conducts a school for artists and singers in the Adirondacks, teaching them "stage deportment," gave a lecture-demonstration on "How to Meet and Talk with People."

Basing his demonstrations on his experience in the theater where every movement has meaning and direction, the speaker showed how one can control the direction in which the personality flows, and how the effect sought is strong, simple and effective. Correct posture is a basic principle of personality, he said, as he gave examples of how various effects may be achieved by a person's posture and facial expression.

The speaker closed the first part of his program with a plea for cheerfulness and a smiling look, for when the boys come home they will want naturalness, he said, and anyway, "The only thing that will carry us along these days is to smile."

In the second part of the program, Mr. Drake appeared with Miss Downing, charming soprano, in several light opera duets. This program, he explained has been used successfully at many U.S.O. centers in the east for the entertainment of the men in service. Miss Rohde was accompanist. A feature of the performance was the singing lesson scene from "Bitter Sweet" in which Mr. Drake impersonated the singing master, Miss Downing the pupil. The program was enthusiastically received by the club.

Mrs. J. D. French presided at the meeting and introduced the entertainers.

Refreshments carried out a patriotic motif. On the committee were Dr. and Mrs. John R. Mulder, Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Fell, and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Olive.

The Ganges Home club sent word that their organization was not able to sponsor a nurse, but would like to help the Woman's club in the undertaking. It was suggested that other local organizations might like to contribute as they have contributed to the club's Loan Closet. The money will be dispensed under the auspices of the state federation, but the local club will receive the credit, and a local girl will be selected from a list recommended by the committee. Plans will be worked out by the officers and committee. The local club is the first in the county to take this action, but others will no doubt do so. ANTICLIMAX

The notorious Nowak case has ended in anticlimax. Although State Senator Nowak is quoted as saying that he is happy over the outcome, in reality he ought not to be, for some of the mud that the government threw at him will certainly cling. The people ought not to be happy over the outcome because they were led to believe that there was sufficient evidence against Nowak to justify an indictment, and now their own justice department at Washington, in the person of Attorney General Francis Biddle, says that all that was a mistake. Officially an innocent Michigan citizen and state senator was bespattered with official suspicions and then was told that there was nothing to the whole thing.

The justice department charged that Senator Nowak was guilty of falsifying his oath in obtaining American citizenship. Nowak's friends, many of them, immediately set up a cry of "politics." No-wak's enemies immediately suggested that he ought to be denied his seat in the state senate. The case was bitterly tried out of court, the one place where it should not be tried.

Now after all this muss and these recriminations on both sides the case is prevented from being tried in court, the one place where it ought to be tried. And that on motion of Attorney General Biddle, the very man who officially at least, had made the charges. This outcome leaves the average citizen in a state of suspicion. If the original charge was not "political," why was the case not allowed to have a cleansing airing in open court? If the justice department did not have reasonable evidence against Nowak, why were the charges preferred against him at all? Ordinarily a department of justice does not besmear an obviously innocent citizen with serious charges of crime.

The suspicion will not down that something happened. There is nothing clean about such an outcome of the case. There appears to be no new evidence, at least it has not been made public.
Those who believed Nowak guilty will continue to believe him guilty in spite of official withdrawal of the charge. Those who believed that the department of justice brought the charges for "political" reasons will continue to believe that. Either the charges should not have been brought at all or they should have been aired in open court. From the angle of American respect for American justice it is the most unsatisfactory outcome of the case that could possibly be imagined.

THE CHURCH INVITES YOU

Very few people would want to live in a community without a church but it is pathetic to know how little support is given the church by the American people.
The following statistics tell the story, on the basis of expenditures of a dollar by the average person 24 per cent goes for home necessities, 22 per cent for luxuries, 131 per cent for shoes and cosmetics, 11 per cent for investments, 41 per cent for government expenses (this figure is being rapidly changed), 7 per cent for tobacco and chewing gum, 23 per cent for education, 7 per cent for alcoholic beverages, 8 per cent for crime and 1 of 1 per cent for the church. These figures ought to make us hang our heads in shame. Why not accept the invitation and come to church next Sunday?

berts and Barbara Greenwood.

Turner was guest at the supper.

Jesus Raises Lazarus From the Dead

- John 11:20-29, 32-35, 38-41

By Henry Geerlings

Jesus had a vast interest in the Bethany home. He loved it and those who lived there. He had enjoyed its gracious hospitality. He had found it to be a haven of rest, a shelter from life's stress and storms. He found friends there for every fine nature must have friends. It was a place where He might open his heart and take out its treasures for the enrichment of others. It was one spot on the earth where there was some measure of appreciation and understanding of Him. It was a place where He was not watched and criticized constantly. It was a trusting place for beautiful souls. Here He was just a little closer to the heaven out of which He had come to earth. Here love could speak and get a response.

Therefore when Lazarus died Jesus felt the hurt of it. Of course every human being was dear to Jesus, but the Bethany family belonged to a kind of an inner circle of friends. He was very tender respecting the great sorrow that had come into the Bethany home. That Jesus delayed somewhat His going to this home to minister to the bereaved sisters seems strange and yet it was not because of indifference.

His plan was formed and it was to be of the greatest comfort and help to the stricken ones. He knew He was going to wrest a blessing out of the very jaws of death. On His way to the Bethany home Martha met Him and later on Mary came to Him also and they both greeted Him with the words, "Had you been here, Lord, my brother would not have died." It is the giving human voice to great faith in Jesus, but it is a supposition that is not entirely warranted. Could not Jesus at a distance have prevented the death of Lazarus quite as readily as close at hand, and if He had so minded and if such intervention were the best order of things? And is death in the last analysis a calamity or the worst that can happen to the sons of men? Jesus had already said that the end of Lazarus death was the glory of God and what is the glory of God but our own highest good? So it looks as if Lazarus would have died even if Jesus had been close by. Death is a gracious part of the eternal scheme of things. And while it is tragic to us, oftentimes well nigh breaking our hearts, certainly shattering our dearest relationships and wrecking our fondest hopes, yet it is good wrapped up in a forbidding package. Jesus knew both sides of death—the sorrowful side and the glad side, the shadowy side and the shining side. He could weep and rejoice over it. So He wept with the Bethany sisters over the sorrow that had come to their home. But He did more than weep with them. While He showed His heart to them He likewise revealed His mind to them. Thinking of death He declared Himself to be the resurrection and the life. That is to say, in and through Him there is resurrection and life for those who die. To prove this, Jesus called Lazarus forth from the grave. I look upon this miracle as a concrete demonstration of the theory of the continuity of life. In the power of Jesus Christ over death and the grave we have the assurance that the end of a human being is not the grave.

It seems to be the fashion in some quarters to deny the fact of this raising of Lazarus from the dead. It looks very foolish to do this, for it is just like Jesus to perform such a miracle. Why shouldn't He have done it? Surely the human heart wants to know that there is a greater power in this world than that of death. Why all these generations of men brought into life on this planet and asked to suffer and struggle and laugh and play and enjoy if the grave is to be sealed forever? What is the meaning of the world and what is the purpose of life if death is the end? Who would choose to journey toward a cemetery and a tombstone, however beautiful and costly, as his final goal? Who would choose to live even in a world like ours with its many good things, if there were not another world into which He might pass through that gateway named death? Three score years and ten do not have enough compensations to lure one into this life if He had the choosing. Better no earthly life at all if the Lazarus story is a myth and the tomb in Joseph's garden still holds the Man of Galilee. We believe that resurrection and life are the abiding order of the universe and death is only a phase of that program for the sake of more life. Death seems to be a necessary pre-requisite to life.

One's curiosity leads him to wonder what Lazarus' experience was while he was gone and what he had to say about it. So far as the record goes, he said nothing.
Is not the silence about life beyond the grave significant? Does not this silence suggest that the fact that there is a beyond-the-grave experience and place is quite real and thrilling enough for us. It looks as if the biggest thing that can be said about the beyond-life is in my Father's house are many mansions—I go to prepare a place for you.

On Furlough

Hazel Steggerda, auxiliary in the Waac, is spending a 10-day furlough with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Steggerda, route 5, Holland. She is stationed at Fort Mead, Md., working in the headquarters company doing postal directory service. The work consists of recording mailing addresses and records of the men coming into the camp and men going out of the camp.

On Nov. 14 Miss Steggerda began her basic training at Des Moines, Ia. After completing four weeks of training she went to Fort Mead. Commenting on the camp in Des Moines, she says that the buildings are new including the equipment and furniture creating a very pleasant atmosphere.
She especially enjoyed the drilling.

There are 150 members of the Waac at Fort Mead doing all kinds of jobs to relieve the men for active duty.

"When you get in a camp like that, you can see what a girl really can do," said Miss Steggerda. An interesting job is chauffeur officers around or being a stenographer for a captain or a major. There are six girls at the camp who act as cooks assisted by two helpers and others for KP duty.

We never have to worry about entertainment," commented Miss Steggerda. "We are permitted to have dates every night, but we must be in by 11:15 p.m." Companies of enlisted men give parties for the girls at the field houses or service clubs. Parties are allowed three times a week.
She reported that the refreshments are always good. The girls are so popular that many of them are dated up a month ahead of time.

Other interesting features are the special programs. So far Jack Benny, Larry Ross, Ina Mae Hutton and the United States army band have appeared at the camp.

"All in all, says Miss Steggerda, it's an exciting life full of work and fun. I especially enjoy living with all the girls."

Fennville Man Learns
Brother Held Prisoner

Fennville Feb. 25 E. J. Meles, residing five miles northwest of Fennville, has learned through the American Red Cross that his younger brother, Joseph Meles, is confined in a German prison camp as an American civilian interne and that his French-born wife is being held in a French camp but no trace of their daughter has been found.

Joseph Meles, who was well known in this neighborhood and at Holland where he was employed as a truck driver for a business concern there many years ago, served in France during World war I. On his return home he met in Chicago a young French girl he had known in France and they were soon married. When a baby was expected his wife persuaded him to return to France so that the baby might be born in that country. That was more than 20 years ago.

The city of Holland has taken steps to begin the second case of condemnation proceedings in the history of the city. The first case was that of the site for the new last year. The second comes in connection with the opening of Twentieth street. C. Van den Ende is the man with whom the city has been unable to come to an agreement in regard to the right of way of the street over his property. City Attorney Van Duren has had a number of conferences with him but the difference between what the city is willing to pay and what Van den Ende wants was found to be so great that no agreement could be reached.

Red Cross Canvass Will Start Monday in Ottawa

Ottawa county Red Cross volunteers will launch their house-to-house canvass of Holland and rural communities next Monday in behalf of its $34,850 war fund drive.

Early indications show that several hundred men and women will participate actively in the Red Cross war fund campaign to help finance the vastly expanded wartime Red Cross program at home and abroad.

"It is the aim of the Red Cross to give each and every citizen of Ottawa county an opportunity to contribute to the cause of mercy and humanity needed by the world as never before," Mrs. J. E. Telling, chairman of the Ottawa county chapter, said.

Volunteers who will give their time to the exacting task of "door bell punching" will identify themselves with Red Cross volunteer workers' credentials during the campaign. They have been organized into efficient squads by Mrs. W. S. Merriam, roll call chairman for Holland.

Each contributor to the Red Cross war fund will receive the customary Red Cross service flag for display in the windows of their homes and business establishments but wartime exigencies have relegated the customary Red Cross metal lapel button in oblivion for the duration.

This year for the first time in order to avoid tapping vital defense material, contributors will receive a paper lapel tag bearing the Red Cross insignia.

The campaign will continue throughout March and early reports indicate that the public is prepared to welcome Red Cross volunteers with sizable contributions.

Red Cross flags and window displays will give evidence that Holland's business district is co-operating wholeheartedly with the Red Cross war fund drive. The flags will be placed by the Boy Scouts and the store window posters will be distributed by the Sophomore Horizon girls under direction of Miss Virginia Kooiker.

Selles Has Full Line of Paints

The Selles Wallpaper and Paint store, 212 West 14th St., is owned and operated by William Selles, local decorator who has been in the decorating business for the past 26 years. Mr. Selles, who was born and learned his trade in The Netherlands, has probably done more decorating of the reliable sort in and around Holland than any other man in the county.

A complete line of O'Brien's Pen-Chrome interior wood finishes is carried by the store and is entirely different from anything else available. These wood finishes come in pastel colors and will harmonize perfectly with modern paint and wallpaper colors. The store also sells Pen-Chrome natural oak floor finish.

The store carries a complete line of the reliable O'Brien paints which have been tested by Mr. Selles for 20 years. Recently they have been featuring two special paints—O'Brien's Flexico, quick drying super enamel and O'Brien's O-Lite interior wall paint.

The well known Imperial wallpapers are also carried by the store. The store is open at any time for inspection.

Hotel Known For Dutch Hospitality

The Warm Friend tavern, Holland's leading hotel, has been under the management of the American Hotels Corp. since June 9, 1941. At that time Chester S. Walz became the hotel's new manager and on Nov. 16, 1942 Kenneth A. Dean assumed his duties as assistant manager of the hotel.

The Warm Friend tavern is not only known to everyone in Holland and its vicinity but to people all over the United States who have visited Holland and have tasted of the warm Dutch hospitality always evident at the tavern. This hotel, which carries on the Dutch tradition in architecture, decoration and service, is also noted for its fine food prepared by Chef Kuhn and his assistants and served by Dutch-costumed waitresses.

In the two years since the hotel has been under the management of the American Hotels Corp., many improvements have been made. The Bier Kelder, Tavern club and Tulip room have been completely redecorated; new carpeting, venetian blinds, easy chairs and floor lamps have been placed in several rooms; and the outer entrances, elevators, elevator doors and elevator lobbies and the main lobby have been improved.

Unable to Guarantee Service of Preference

Now that recruits are also being obtained through selective service for the navy, marine corps and coast guard, the local selective service board desires to inform selectees that it can give no guarantee that they will be inducted into the service of their preference.

The registrant will be given opportunity at his induction station to express his preference for the army, navy, marine corps or coast guard. If there are no vacancies available in their preferred service, they will be assigned to the service for which the military assignment board finds them best suited.

Rationing Setup For Institutions Being Revamped

Sugar and Coffee on One Application; Users Put in Three Groups

The rationing program for institutional users (restaurants and the like) is being reorganized by the office of price administration, and institutions may register with the local war price and rationing board, 25 West Eighth St., between March 1 and 5, it was announced Saturday.

Heretofore institutional users have been granted sugar on percentage based on their 1941 usage, and allotments of coffee were based on their usages during September and October 1942. With the inauguration of the point rationing program, all rationed commodities will be included in one application.

There are three groups of institutional users according to the new regulations. Group one is the Pooled Book Group such as boarding houses, fraternity and sorority houses, summer camps and the like. This group will be able to obtain rationed foods only by using stamps in the War Ration books of the people they serve.

Group two takes in institutions of involuntary confinement such as jails, prisons, insane asylums and homes for delinquents. Institutions in group two do not use stamps of the persons they serve.

Group three is the general group which takes in public eating places, such as restaurants, hotels, soda fountains, caterers, factory lunch rooms, non-profit organizations such as the USO, Red Cross, civic and social organizations. Institutions registering in group three must report the number of persons served in December, 1942, and the amount of rationed foods used during that month.

Every institutional user must register on OPA form R-1307 which will be available later at the war price and rationing board. He also must register the point inventory of processed foods as of the close of business Feb. 28, 1943. This procedure will be explained in the instructions.

Institutional users will be given the privilege of opening a ration banking account. Separate accounts will be required for sugar, coffee and processed foods.

Institutional users who will need sugar and coffee before March 1 may apply for limited amounts between now and Feb. 27, these amounts to be deducted from the new allotments in March. Applicants for sugar may be made for one-quarter of the quantities granted for January and February. Coffee may be granted equal to one-third of the quantity allotted for February.

Brush off those cobwebs!

Many people have the habit of asking "Information" for numbers instead of looking them up in the directory. It's always a wasteful habit, particularly to be avoided now because it ties up lines and equipment crowded with war calls. And six out of ten calls for "Information" are for numbers that are listed in the directory!

Remember—every second you can save on the telephone is vitally needed in the war effort. Use the directory. Don't call "Information" needlessly, please!

Young Violinist Heard In Concert at Chapel

Holland music lovers Wednesday night were privileged to hear a truly great artist in the person of Arthur LeBlanc, young Canadian violinist, who presented the final concert on the 1942-43 Cooperative Concert association series in Hope Memorial chapel.

Displaying a flawless technique, developed to a degree of perfection seldom heard by the average concert-goer, Mr. LeBlanc's even greater power was his beauty and purity of tone and a rich fund of expressiveness which gave to his performance a true distinction and refinement.

Opening his program with the lovely "Sonata in G Minor" by Tartini, Mr. LeBlanc then swept into the beautiful and familiar Mendelssohn concerto, the rendition of which completely captivated his audience.

Highlights of his final group were the delicately beautiful and technically difficult "La Fontaine d'Arethuse" by Szymanowski, and the artist's own composition, "Song of the Pines," displaying his steadily beautiful and sustained tones and pure intonation in the double stops.

"Hopak" by Moussorgsky (arranged by Rachmaninoff) and a Paganini "Caprice" were other numbers on the well arranged program. Returning for three encores, the artist played the De Falla "Dance L'Espagnole," Schubert's "Ave Maria," and the charming Debussy number, "En Bateau."

Mr. LeBlanc used his precious Guadagnini violin, dated 1775, and a bow, valued at $2,500, made by Tourte, the most famous of violin bow-makers.

Distinguishing himself as accompanist and pianist, was Joseph Blatt of New York city. His group of piano solos included "Fantasia in C Minor," by Mozart, and "Minute Waltz" by Chopin.

Photos of Local Fighters Boost Store's Bond Sales

A rough idea of how many "boys and girls" from Holland are serving in the nation's armed forces can be gained by viewing the mass display of pictures at the De Vries & Dornbos Co., 40 East Eighth St.

The display, through late Friday afternoon, included 603 pictures in comparison with the 187 pictures of last year's showing of the local men and women in the armed forces.

The large display window to the east contains the pictures of the soldiers, sailors, marines and coast guardsmen. In the center window are the honor pictures. Those marked with gold stars have been killed in action; silver star, missing in action; purple heart, wounded; and crosses, chaplains. Pictures of the women who are serving in the armed force auxiliaries also are on display in this window with 13 women's pictures in the display.

An added feature of this year's exhibit is an appeal to war bond purchasers to back the "boys and girls" with their war bonds. In the center window are three charts. The first one bears the numbers which identify the pictures. Every time a bond is purchased at the store, the number of the one which the bond is supporting is crossed out.

It is the hope of C. W. Dornbos who arranged the display that all numbers will be crossed out with bond purchases by the time the display is brought to an end. The large center chart lists the name of the person purchasing the bond, for whom it was bought and the amount of the bond. The third chart lists the amount of bonds sold to date. Through Friday afternoon, bonds amounting to $1,875 had been sold.

In order that no favoritism is shown any individual, the pictures were arranged in the window according to their size, rather than their rank. Solicitation for the pictures was made only through The Holland Evening Sentinel, Mr. Dornbos said.

After the display is ended, pictures will be returned to their owners as each has been given a receipt which must be presented to obtain the picture. Mr. Dornbos has arranged to give each person a patriotically decorated "service record" book. This book contains spaces for recording when he or she entered the service, their training period, promotions and transfers, off for the front, voyage "Over There," pictures of interest, military record, fronts, engagements and decorations, comrades in arms, furloughs and leaves, countries served in and homeward bound.
